1 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 I. INTRODUCTION

3 A. Background

4 Approximately twelve years ago, Class Counsel undertook three unprecedented cases
5 seeking refunds of telephone taxes on behalf of the residents of the City of Los Angeles, the City
6 of Long Beach, and the unincorporated areas of the County of Los Angeles. These were risky 7 and hard-fought cases, requiring Plaintiffs to win two separate appeals in the Supreme Court of 8 California establishing the rights of taxpayers to bring the claims on a class-wide basis. Ardon v.
9 City of Los Angeles, 52 Cal. 4th 241 (2011); McWilliams v. City of Long Beach, 56 Cal. 4th 613
10 (2013). In October 2016, the Court granted final approval to a settlement in one of the three 11 cases, Ardon v. City of Los Angeles. Now, the parties to the remaining two cases—McWilliams 12 v. City of Long Beach, and Granados v. County of Los Angeles—seek final approval of 13 settlements, and Class Counsel seek an award of fees and expenses for their work in achieving 14 those settlements, as well as incentive awards for the plaintiffs.

15 While the three cases were related, each one was litigated separately, entailed unique 16 risks, and was hard-fought by the separate defendants. Class Counsel recorded their time 17 separately in all three cases and allocated their time among the cases where the work performed 18 benefitted more than one case. See Class Counsel Decls., ¶ 4. This Motion seeks an award of 19 attorneys’ fees and expenses solely for the work performed and results achieved in the 20 McWilliams v. City of Long Beach case.

21 B. Statement of Facts

22 Class Counsel<sup>2</sup> diligently and skillfully prosecuted this extremely risky case over the 23 course of roughly twelve years, without compensation or reimbursement of costs. By any 24 measure, the Settlement is exemplary. The City has agreed to pay $16,600,000 (the “Settlement 25 Fund”) to settle this litigation, representing approximately 38-42% of the telephone utility users’ 26 taxes (“UUT”) that Plaintiff alleges the City unlawfully collected during the Class Period. The 27 _____

28 <sup>2</sup> Capitalized terms have the meaning ascribed in the Second Amended Settlement Agreement (“SASA”), unless otherwise noted. See Joint Declaration, Exhibit (“Ex.”) A.

1 Settlement entitles Class members to receive up to a full refund of the UUT that Plaintiff alleges 2 were improperly collected on telephone service during a 40 month period, from August 11, 2005
3 to December 19, 2008 (the “Class Period”). Class members who file claims can receive up to a 4 100% refund of the UUT they paid on mobile phone service during the Class Period, plus a 70%
5 refund of the UUT they paid on landline service during the Class Period. This is, in essence, a 6 full recovery of the damages they would have received if Plaintiff had succeeded in certifying a 7 class and prevailed on all of the liability issues at summary judgment or trial.<sup>3</sup>

8 Class Counsel also negotiated an extraordinarily robust notice program. A complete 9 notice packet -- including a notice, claim form and a prepaid return envelope -- written in both 10 English and Spanish, was mailed to every address in the City of Long Beach. Keough Decl. at 11 ¶¶ 5-8. A few months later, a reminder postcard was mailed to every potential Class Member 12 who had not yet submitted a claim. Id., ¶ 19. In addition, notice was provided in 13 print 13 publications, 4,154 television commercials, 492 radio commercials, over 12 million digital 14 impressions, a press release, and on the websites of the Claims Administrator and certain Class 15 Counsel. Id., Ex. D; Joint Decl., ¶ 44. Thus, the negotiated notice program included virtually 16 every conceivable form of notice. Then, Class Counsel also independently mailed over 200 17 customized letters to area accounting firms, notifying them that their clients may be entitled to 18 refunds and encouraging the firms to assist their clients with filing claims. Joint Decl., ¶ 44. In 19 addition, Class Counsel conducted a direct telephone outreach program to over 700 area 20 businesses. Id. Specifically, a team of paralegals and contractors called these businesses, 21 requested to speak with accounting or legal departments, and encouraged the businesses to file 22 refund claims. Id.

23 Class Counsel also negotiated a simple and fair claims process, which provides Class 24 members several options. Every Class member can claim standard refund amounts of $46 for

25 <sup>3</sup> Plaintiff did not challenge application of the UUT to charges for purely local telephone 26 service, which applies solely to landline service. In administering a refund of the Federal Excise 27 Tax (“FET”), which was coextensive with the UUT, the Internal Revenue Service determined 28 that approximately 32% of the total FET was attributable to local service and, therefore, properly collected. See Joint Decl., Ex. D. Thus, the Settlement provides for a 70% refund of the total UUT collected on landline service.

1 mobile service, $27.50 for landline service, and/or $46 for business landline service, with no 2 documentary evidence required, simply by completing the claim form with basic information.<sup>4</sup>

3         Alternatively, Class members can claim greater amounts – up to a 100% refund of the 4 UUT actually paid – with evidence of the amount of UUT paid. Class Counsel negotiated 5 several means for Class members to provide such evidence. First, Class members can submit a 6 full set of bills or other Carrier-provided documentation of the UUT paid during the Class 7 Period, or a sample of 10 bills from which an average monthly UUT payment will be calculated.
8 Second, Class members can provide consent for Verizon and/or Sprint to search their records for 9 UUT payment data, and T-Mobile customers can contact T-Mobile directly to obtain their UUT 10 payment data. The costs of these data searches will be borne by the Settlement Fund. Finally, 11 Class members who are unable to obtain Class Period records may submit a sample of ten recent 12 phone bills reflecting UUT paid to the City, and the claims administrator will calculate their 13 refund using the average monthly UUT amount shown. This latter option is a significant 14 enhancement over the options provided in the settlement in the Ardon case.

15         Although it will take months for the Claims Administrator to process all the claims and 16 calculate refunds due, and for the telephone carriers to provide UUT data where requested, by 17 any measure this Settlement is a success. As of October 2, 2018, 32,139 claims have been filed 18 by Class Members. Keough Decl., ¶ 20. This represents approximately 12% of the addresses in 19 the City of Long Beach to which notices were sent. Id.

20         Achieving this exemplary Settlement was far from certain. Class Counsel faced a 21 significant risk, perhaps a likelihood, that their investment of substantial resources over the 22 course of more than a decade would be entirely for naught. Indeed, at the time this case was 23 filed, the generally accepted understanding was that class claims for tax refunds were not 24 permitted, and this Court ruled against Plaintiff on that threshold legal issue. Plaintiff appealed, 25 and the Court of Appeal stayed the appeal pending a decision by the Court of Appeal (and then

26
27 <sup>4</sup> Ordinarily, taxpayers bear the burden of producing evidence of any tax refund they are 28 due (see, e.g., Dicon Fiberoptics, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd., 53 Cal. 4th 1227, 1236 (2012)), so the fact that taxpayers are receiving refunds without a documentation requirement is a significant achievement.

1 the California Supreme Court) in the related Ardon case. On July 25, 2011, the Supreme Court
2 of California ruled in plaintiff Ardon’s favor, reversing the judgment of the Court of Appeal, and 3 holding that “[c]lass claims for tax refunds against a local governmental entity are permissible
4 under [Government Code] section 910 in the absence of a specific tax refund procedure set forth 5 in an applicable governing claims statute.” Ardon, 52 Cal. 4th at 253. Thereafter, the Court of 6 Appeal lifted the stay in McWilliams and reversed this Court’s order granting the City’s demurrer 7 and dismissing the case. McWilliams v. City of Long Beach, No. B200831, 2012 Cal. App.
8 Unpub. LEXIS 2402 (2d App. Dist. Mar. 28, 2012).

9 The City of Long Beach, however, filed a Petition for Review before the Supreme Court 10 of California on an issue that had not been decided in Ardon. The City argued that, while the 11 Ardon decision held that class claims are permitted under the Government Code, the City’s own 12 municipal code prohibited the filing of class claims. The Court granted the petition. McWilliams
13 v. City of Long Beach, No. S202037, 2012 Cal. LEXIS 6604 (July 11, 2012). Thus, the victory 14 achieved in Ardon was at risk of being nullified in McWilliams. On April 25, 2013, however, the 15 Supreme Court once again ruled in favor of the taxpayers, holding that local ordinances cannot 16 supplant the procedures specified by the Government Claims Act, which allow class claims.
17 McWilliams, 56 Cal. 4th at 629.<sup>5</sup>

18 Even then, however, the City did not capitulate. Upon remand, the parties propounded 19 discovery and Plaintiff prepared to file his motion for class certification. Among other things, 20 Plaintiff obtained documents from the City and documents and supporting declarations from 21 several third-party telephone service providers. Joint Decl., ¶ 23.

22 On April 1, 2015, the parties participated in a mediation session before Judge Tevrizian 23 (Ret.) where they agreed to a settlement in principle. Resolving all material terms required 24 lengthy additional negotiations, including a second mediation on December 17, 2015.

25 Even then, there was also a risk that the entire case could have been derailed upon the 26

27 <sup>5</sup> Even this decision was at risk. In 2014, a bill was proposed in the California legislature to legislatively 28 overrule the McWilliams decision (Assembly Bill 59 (2014)), which could have served as precedent for the City to enact retroactive legislation prohibiting the class tax refund claims brought by Plaintiff here.

1 death of the named plaintiff, John McWilliams, which was averted solely by the foresight and 2 careful planning of Class Counsel. In 2014, after the case had been pending for eight years, the 3 health of the named plaintiff, Mr. John McWilliams, began to decline. Joint Decl., ¶ 57. In 4 order to ensure that the claims on behalf of himself and others similarly situated would survive
5 his death, Mr. McWilliams created the John W. McWilliams Telephone Tax Claim Living Trust
6 (the “Trust”) in June 2014, and transferred into the Trust all of his rights, responsibilities, causes 7 of action, and claims in the action. Mr. McWilliams appointed Joseph Henchman, Executive 8 Vice President of Tax Foundation, a non-profit tax policy research organization based in 9 Washington, D.C., as Trustee of the Trust to continue the litigation. Mr. McWilliams passed 10 away on December 30, 2015. Id. Absent the Trust, the entire case could have been derailed 11 upon his death because McWilliams was the only claimant who submitted an administrative 12 claim to the City for a tax refund on behalf of himself and others similarly situated.

13 Class Counsel seek an award of $4,150,000 for attorneys’ fees, or 25% of the 14 $16,600,000 Settlement Fund, plus reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses of $89,932.83, as 15 compensation for their considerable investment of time and effort and their success in achieving 16 the Settlement. Class Counsel have invested a collective lodestar of $3,246,866.00 over the 17 nearly 12-year course of this litigation. Joint Decl., ¶ 47; Class Counsel Decls. Thus, the 18 requested fee represents a modest multiple of 1.28 of their lodestar. All of the relevant factors 19 demonstrate that an award of $4.15 million for fees, plus expenses, is warranted here. Plaintiff 20 also requests an incentive award of $6,000 in recognition of his service on behalf of the Class.

21 II. LEGAL ARGUMENT

22 There are two generally accepted methods for determining an award of attorneys’ fees 23 under California law: (1) the percentage-of-the-recovery method, and (2) the lodestar method.
24 Typically the percentage method is selected when a settlement results in a common fund, and the 25 lodestar method is selected when a settlement does not result in a common fund. In either case, 26 courts will typically refer to the other method as a cross-check to ensure that the fee award is 27 fair. Roos v. Honeywell Int’l, Inc., 241 Cal. App. 4th 1472, 1493 (2015). “The trial court is the 28 best judge of the value of professional services rendered in its court, and while its judgment is 1 subject to our review, [the Court of Appeal] will not disturb that determination unless . . .

2 convinced that it is clearly wrong.” Id. at 1482 (internal quotations omitted). Class Counsel’s 3 request for $4,150,000 for attorneys’ fees is appropriate under either the lodestar or percentage-4 of-recovery standard.

5 A. The Requested Fees Should Be Approved Under the Percentage of the 6 Common Fund Method

7 The common fund doctrine is generally held applicable “where plaintiffs’ efforts have 8 effected the creation or preservation of an identifiable fund of money out of which the fees will 9 be paid.” Jordan v. Dep’t of Motor Vehicles, 100 Cal. App. 4th 431, 446-47 (2002) (citing 10 Serrano v. Priest, 20 Cal. 3d 25, 37-38 (1997)). Here, the Settlement resulted in creation of an 11 identifiable $16.6 million fund from which tax refunds, notice and administration costs, 12 attorneys’ fees and expenses and any incentive award will be paid. In Laffitte v. Robert Half 13 Int’l, Inc., 1 Cal. 5th 480, 503 (2016), the Supreme Court held that where, as here, “class action 14 litigation establishes a monetary fund for the benefit of the class members, and the trial court in 15 its equitable powers awards class counsel a fee out of that fund, the court may determine the 16 amount of a reasonable fee by choosing an appropriate percentage of the fund created” and that 17 “the percentage method is a valuable tool.”

18 Although it is possible that the entire $16.6 million Settlement Fund will not be 19 exhausted, and therefore some amount could revert to the City, in applying the common fund 20 method under California law, attorneys’ fees are “calculated on the basis of the total fund made 21 available rather than the actual payments made to the class.” Lealao v. Beneficial Cal., Inc., 82 22 Cal. App. 4th 19, 51 (2000) (emphasis added) (citing Williams v. MGM-Pathe Commc’ns Co., 23 129 F.3d 1026 (9th Cir. 1997)).<sup>6</sup> So, for example, in Collins v. City of Los Angeles, 205 Cal. App.

24 <sup>6</sup> See also Six (6) Mexican Workers v. Ariz. Citrus Growers, 904 F.2d 1301, 1311 (9th Cir.

26 class members’ share, not just the claiming members.”) (citing Boeing Co. v. Van Gemert, 444 27 U.S. 472, 480-81 (1980)); Estrada v. iYogi, Inc., No. 2:13-cv-01989 WBS CKD, 2016 U.S. Dist.

percentage of the fund approach . . . is based on the total money available to class members, not just the money actually claimed.”); Glass v. UBS Fin. Servs., Inc., No. C-06-4068 MMC, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8476, at *50 (N.D. Cal. Jan 26, 2007) (the court “must award fees as a

1 4th 140, 147-48, 158 (2012), the Court included in its common fund valuation for purposes of 2 determining appropriate attorneys' fees the entire value of the judgment, even though a portion 3 of that amount was payable to class members who could not be located and would revert to the 4 City.<sup>7</sup>

5 In Ardon, the Court noted that fees awarded in class actions average around 33% of the 6 recovery. See Joint Decl., Ex. E at 21 (citing Consumer Privacy Cases 175 Cal. App. 4th 545, 7 558, n.13 (2009): "Empirical studies show that, regardless whether the percentage method or the 8 lodestar method is used, fee awards in class actions average around one-third of the recovery.")
9 In Laffitte, for example, the Supreme Court of California affirmed a fee award representing 10 33.33% of a $19 million common fund, plus expenses. Laffitte, 1 Cal. 5th 480; Laffitte v. Robert 11 Half Int'l Inc., 231 Cal. App. 4th 860, 869 (2014).

12 Here, the 25% fee sought falls comfortably below the 33% average, and easily within the 13 range commonly approved. See, e.g., Chavez v. Netflix, Inc., 162 Cal. App. 4th 43, 66 n.11 14 (2008) (27.9 percent of the class benefit awarded and noting "[e]mpirical studies show that,
15 regardless whether the percentage method or the lodestar method is used, fee awards in class 16 actions average around one-third of the recovery"); Bell v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 115 Cal. App. 4th 22 of the fund actually claimed by the class"); Fernandez v. Victoria Secret Stores, LLC, No. C-06-

23 04149 MMM (SHx), 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 123546, at *36 n.39 (C.D. Cal. July 21, 2008) 24 ("Use of the 'common fund' concept in a case such as this, where each class member can recover only a finite amount, does not affect the calculation of attorneys' fees even if a portion of the fund is not claimed.").

25 <sup>7</sup> Moreover, any reversion here is tantamount to a cy pres distribution. The goal of the 26 Settlement is to pay UUT refunds to Class members, most of whom are still residents of Long 27 Beach. Thus, a reversion to the City ensures that the Settlement Fund will be used for the benefit of the majority of Class members. Further, Code of Civil Procedure section 384(c) recognizes that, in cases against public entities, a reversion to the public entity satisfies a public purpose.

1 The percentage method is appropriate here as it “provides a credible measure of the 2 market value of the legal services provided” in contingency litigation (which almost always 3 involves percentage fee agreements). Lealao, 82 Cal. App. 4th at 49. As explained in Laffitte:

4 The recognized advantages of the percentage method—including relative ease of 5 calculation, alignment of incentives between counsel and the class, a better 6 approximation of market conditions in a contingency case, and the encouragement 7 it provides counsel to seek an early settlement and avoid unnecessarily prolonging the litigation . . . —convince us the percentage method is a valuable tool that should not be denied our trial courts.

8 Laffitte, 1 Cal. 5th at 503. The percentage method also encourages the successful attorney to 9 accept the contingency risk and delay in payment, the importance of which California decisions 10 have repeatedly emphasized. See, e.g., Ketchum v. Moses, 24 Cal. 4th 1122, 1136 (2001) 11 (“lawyers generally will not provide legal representation on a contingent basis unless they 12 receive a premium for taking that risk”) (internal quotations omitted); Lealao, 82 Cal. App. 4th at 13 47 (“attorneys providing the essential enforcement services must be provided incentives roughly 14 comparable to those negotiated in the private . . . legal marketplace, as it will otherwise be 15 economic for defendants to increase injurious behavior”); Melendres v. Los Angeles, 45 Cal.
16 App. 3d 267, 273 (1975) (“There must always be a flavor of generosity in the awards . . . in order 17 that an appetite for efforts may be stimulated.”).

18 B. The Requested Fees Should Be Approved Under the Lodestar Method

19 California courts typically apply the lodestar plus multiplier method as a cross-check on 20 fees calculated under the percent-of-recovery method, or when there is not a common fund 21 capable of valuation with reasonable certainty. Lealao, 87 Cal. App. 4th at 37-39, 45-46. The 22 Court is not required to perform an exhaustive cataloging and review of counsel’s hours. See In

3 Feb. 11, 2016) (noting that “the Court may rely on . . . summaries [of hours worked], as actual 4 billing records are unnecessary in the context of assessing the lodestar cross-check.”)

5 1. Class Counsel’s Lodestar is Reasonable and Supports the 6 Requested Award

7 Class Counsel’s lodestar of $3,246,866.00 over the course of this twelve year litigation is 8 reasonable. The starting point in the lodestar analysis is to discern the prevailing hourly rate for 9 similar work in the pertinent geographic region. Chodos v. Borman, 227 Cal. App. 4th 76, 93 10 (2014) (“hourly amount to which attorneys of like skill in the area would typically be entitled”) (citing Serrano v. Unruh, 32 Cal. 3d 621, 640 n.31 (1982)).

11 In Ardon, the Court previously approved the hourly rates of Class Counsel here over the 12 objection of the defendant, and after considering expert evidence. Joint Decl., Ex. E at 20 13 (“Based on this Court’s familiarity with the rates charged by attorneys in the Los Angeles area, 14 the Court finds that the hourly rates charged by the attorneys are reasonable.”) Class Counsel’s 15 rates should be approved again here. Class Counsel are highly-regarded members of the bar, 16 have extensive experience in class actions and complex litigation, and their rates are squarely in 17 line with prevailing rates in this jurisdiction, are paid by hourly paying clients of their firms, 18 and/or have been approved by numerous other courts. See Class Counsel Decl.

19 Class Counsel’s rates of $625 to $965 for partners and $445 to $530 for associates are 20 within the prevailing market rates in the Los Angeles area for attorneys of comparable skill, 21 experience, and reputation.<sup>9</sup> See, e.g., Bergstein v. Stroock & Stroock & Lavan, No. BC483164, 22 2013 Cal. Super. LEXIS 593, at *12 (L.A. Cnty. Super. Ct. Feb. 14, 2013) (approving rates up to 25 <sup>9</sup> The Supreme Court has held that the use of current rates is proper since such rates 26 compensate for inflation and loss of use of funds. Mo. v. Jenkins, 491 U.S. 274, 283-84 (1989).

27 That is particularly apt here, in a case that has lasted more than a decade. See also Mackinnon v.

2 Supp. 3d 1012, 1022-23 (C.D. Cal. 2014) (approving attorney rates from $500 to $975 in a case
3 against County of Los Angeles); Blacksher v. United States Sec. Assocs., Inc., No. BC348103, 4 2008 Cal. Super. LEXIS 1464, at *6-7 (L.A. Cnty. Super. Ct. Mar. 7, 2008) (noting that partner
5 billing rates for Southern California ranged as high as $825.00 in 2008). Likewise, Class 6 Counsel’s rates for paralegals, legal assistants, and law clerks, which range from $60 to $320, are 7 reasonable. See Goldman v. Lifelock, Inc., No 115CV276235, 2016 Cal. Super. LEXIS 82, at *6
8 (Santa Clara Cnty. Super. Ct. Feb. 5, 2016) (approving paralegal rates up to $320 per hour);
9 Perfect 10, Inc. v. Giganews, Inc., No. CV 11-07098-AB (SHx), 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 54063, 10 at *65 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 24, 2015) (approving paralegal rates of $240 to $345).

11 Further, Class Counsel’s total hours are reasonable. The extensive work performed by 12 Class Counsel, from initial investigation through the appeal in the Supreme Court of California, 13 discovery, and the years-long exhaustive settlement negotiation process, is set forth more fully in 14 the accompanying Joint Declaration. On average, Class Counsel invested approximately 397
15 hours per year in this roughly 12-year litigation. Courts routinely find comparable expenditures 16 of time reasonable in similarly complex litigation. See, e.g., Skold v. Intel Corp., No. 1-05-CV-
17 039231, 2015 Cal. Super. LEXIS 122, at *14-15 (Santa Clara Cnty. Super. Ct. Jan. 28, 2015) 18 (finding that 17,651.2 hours was reasonable for ten years of litigation, especially, “[r]ecognizing 19 the length and complexity of this lawsuit and the amount of work involved over an extended 20 period of time as well as the risks associated with the outcome”); Duran v. United States Bank 21 Nat’l Ass’n, No. 2001-035537, 2010 Cal. Super. LEXIS 1058, at *54 (Alameda Cnty. Super. Ct.
22 Dec. 16, 2010) (holding that 14,500 “hours are fully justified by the tremendous burdens of over 23 eight years of intense, bitterly-contested litigation.”); Chemical Bank v. City of Seattle, 19 F.3d 24 1291, 1298 (9th Cir. 1994) (affirming 137,000 billable hours was reasonable for a seven-year 25 case).

26 Each firm here has also submitted a declaration summarizing the work they performed by 27 category, attesting that their reported hours are accurate and were reasonably incurred in 28 connection with the prosecution of the case, and that their firms maintain daily,

1 contemporaneous time records. See, e.g., Concepcion v. Amscan Holdings, Inc., 223 Cal. App.
2 4th 1309, 1324 (2014) (“It is not necessary to provide detailed billing timesheets to support an 3 award of attorney fees under the lodestar method . . . . Declarations of counsel setting forth the 4 reasonable hourly rate, the number of hours worked and the tasks performed are sufficient.”) 5 (citing Wershba v. Apple Computer, 91 Cal. App. 4th 224, 254-55 (2001)); see also Blackwell v.
6 Foley, 724 F. Supp. 2d 1068, 1081 (N.D. Cal. 2010) (“An attorney’s sworn testimony that, in 7 fact, it took the time claimed ‘. . . is evidence of considerable weight on the issue of the time
8 required . . .’”) (alterations in original). Further, each firm kept time separately for the three 9 related cases, and allocated their time among the three cases for work that benefitted more than 10 one case—there was no double billing. See Class Counsel Decls., ¶ 4.

11 Class Counsel also expects to incur significant additional lodestar going forward. In the 12 Ardon case, as an example, Class Counsel have incurred $400,657.00 in additional lodestar since 13 the Court’s Final Approval Order, in large part due to time spent overseeing the claims 14 administration process and communicating with class members. See Class Counsel Declarations, 15 ¶ 11. Here as well, Class Counsel has closely monitored the claims process and has been 16 proactive in addressing issues and advising and assisting claimants. The process of analyzing 17 claims and the carrier search procedure is anticipated to take at least several months, during 18 which time Class Counsel expects to continue a high level of oversight and involvement.

19 2. The Requested 1.28 Multiplier is Well-Earned

20 In Ardon, the Court “[had] no trouble finding that [a 1.45] positive multiplier [wa]s 21 warranted,” based on the “quality of the representation, the novelty and difficulty of the issues 22 presented and the skill displayed by the lawyers in presenting them, the results achieved on 23 behalf of the class, and the contingent nature of the fee award . . . .” Joint Decl., Ex. E at 21.
24 Here, the Court should likewise have no trouble approving the requested 1.28 multiple.

25 Class Counsel’s “unadorned lodestar reflects the general local hourly rate for a fee- 26 bearing case; it does not include any compensation for contingent risk, extraordinary skill, or 27 any other factors a trial court may consider . . . .” Ketchum, 24 Cal. 4th at 1138. Here, Class 28 Counsel requests a total award of $4.15 million in fees, which equates to a multiple of 1.28 on 1 their lodestar of $3,246,866.00. This multiple is very reasonable.

2 To “approximate market-level compensation for such services, which typically includes a 3 premium for the risk of nonpayment or delay in payment of attorney fees” (id.), courts employ 4 fee enhancements, adjusting the fee “based on consideration of factors specific to the case,” 5 PLCM Grp., Inc. v. Drexler, 22 Cal. 4th 1084, 1095 (2000). Those factors include: (1) the 6 results achieved on behalf of the Class; (2) the novelty and difficulty of the questions involved 7 and the skill displayed in presenting them; (3) the response of the Class to the settlement, 8 including a lack of objections to the settlement terms, and particularly to the fee award; (4) 9 counsel’s experience, reputation, and ability; (5) counsel’s preclusion from other work; and (6) 10 the contingent nature of the fee award. See Ketchum, 24 Cal. 4th at 1132; Cundiff v. Verizon 11 Cal., Inc., 167 Cal. App. 4th 718, 724 n.3 (2008); Consumer Privacy Cases, 175 Cal. App. 4th at 12 556. All of these factors weigh in favor of enhancement.

13 One of the primary fee enhancement factors is contingency risk. In Ketchum, the 14 Supreme Court explained that its purpose “is to bring the financial incentives for attorneys 15 enforcing important . . . rights . . . into line with incentives they have to undertake claims for 16 which they are paid on a fee-for-services basis.” Ketchum, 24 Cal. 4th at 1132 (citing Rader v.
17 Thrasher, 57 Cal. 2d 244, 253 (1962)). To achieve this purpose, the “contingent fee must be 18 higher than a fee for the same legal services paid as they are performed.” Ketchum, 24 Cal. 4th 19 at 1132 (emphasis added). The enhancement is “intended to approximate market-level 20 compensation for [the attorney’s] services, which [in contingency-fee cases] typically includes a 21 premium for the risk of nonpayment or delay in payment of attorney fees.” Id. at 1138. See 22 Graham v. DaimlerChrysler Corp., 34 Cal. 4th 553, 579 (2004) (“One of the most common fee 23 enhancers . . . is for contingency risk.”). Here, Class Counsel litigated for nearly 12 years and 24 incurred over $3.2 million in lodestar and over $89,000 in out-of-pocket costs, while facing a 25 serious risk that they would never be compensated at all. Indeed, the trial court ruled against 26 Plaintiff on the threshold legal issue, and Plaintiff had to win an appeal in the Supreme Court.<sup>10</sup>

27 <sup>10</sup> Plaintiff’s success in the appeal in the Supreme Court of California established the rights 28 of all California taxpayers to pursue class refund claims under the Government Code. Courts recognize that “the public interest is served by rewarding attorneys who assume representation

1 There were, of course, numerous other possible pitfalls, including class certification and proving 2 claims based on highly technical application of tax law to modern telephone service.

3 There is also no question that the threshold issues were both novel and difficult, and 4 Class Counsel demonstrated utmost skill in persuading the Supreme Court to rule in Plaintiff's 5 favor. Class Counsel's experience, reputation, and ability to achieve extraordinary results in class 6 action and complex litigation is second to none (see Class Counsel Decls.), and was put to the 7 test in this case by a sophisticated defendant with ample resources. Further, Class Counsel were 8 precluded from other work while they fought for the rights of Long Beach taxpayers.

9 The result achieved here also weighs heavily in favor of enhancement. The $16.6 million 10 Settlement Fund represents approximately 38-42% of the UUT unlawfully collected by the City 11 during the Class Period. See Joint Decl., ¶ 33, n.9. The claims process is simple and fair, and 12 the notice program was extraordinarily robust, and included Class Counsel's direct outreach 13 efforts to hundreds of businesses. Id., ¶ 44. The response of the Class members has also been 14 overwhelmingly positive. To date, 32,139 claims have been filed, and Class Counsel and the 15 Claims Administrator have received only 2 objections. However, neither of those objections 16 concerns attorneys' fees, expenses or the requested incentive award.

17 Finally, the requested multiple of 1.28 is below multiples commonly awarded in class 18 action litigation. Sutter Health Uninsured Pricing Cases, 171 Cal. App. 4th 495, 512 (2009)
19 (affirming 2.52 multiplier); Chavez, 162 Cal. App. 4th at 66 (affirming 2.5 multiplier); Wershba,

2 The fact that the defendant here is a public entity does not militate against the modest

7 v. Bd. of Trs. of Cal. State Univ., 132 Cal. App. 4th 359, 400 (2005) (holding it was an abuse of

2           Class Counsel also seek $89,932.83 in unreimbursed expenses, which include, inter alia, 3 expert witness and consultant fees, transcript fees, necessary travel, and other reasonable 4 expenses. See Class Counsel Decls. Class Counsel also anticipate incurring additional expenses 5 through the end of the claims process, for which they will not seek additional reimbursement.

6           D.     The Requested Incentive Award to Plaintiff Is Reasonable

7           Class Counsel requests a $6,000 incentive award for the Class Representative, an amount 8 which is less than the amounts often awarded, including the $10,000 incentive award granted in 9 Ardon. See Joint Decl., Ex. E at 23; Cellphone Termination Fee Cases, 186 Cal. App. 4th 1380,

15 of Joseph Henschman in Support of Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement, 16 filed again herewith (Joint Decl. Ex. C) as well as in the Joint Declaration (id., ¶ 57).

17           III.    CONCLUSION

18           For the foregoing reasons, Class Counsel respectfully request an award of $4.15 million, 19 reimbursement of $89,932.83 in expenses, and an incentive award of $6,000 to the Class 20 Representative, to be paid from the Settlement Fund.
